Jim Delahoussaye was our guest speaker last month. He showed us how the community of Myette Point moved from land to water and back to land. He talked about how living and non-living things worked together to survive in their environments. He showed us a few house boats that people lived on. You should have been there to see his presentation to appreciate it. His email address is jim337@centurytel.net
