LIBRARY NEWS

The library has many data bases for genealogy research. Many can be accessed right from your computer at home, using your TP library card. They are considering adding another data base called Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives. They want to know what you think about this website and whether or not it would be a website that you would use. Several special collections include: African American, American Revolution, Native American, U.S. Bureau of Investigation Case File and WWII Archives. Please check it out at <http://trial.cbshost.com> user name: terrebonneparish, password: trial. This will be a very costly website and they would not want to invest in this website if it will not be used. Just send me an email and let me know what you think of the site and I will get them to the library; wmoore1048@aol.com.
